The appellants claim to have gained, by adverse possession, title to a piece of property which was reserved to the appellees in a 1948 quitclaim deed. The district court granted judgment for the appellees and appellants seek reversal of that judgment in this court on the ground that there is no evidence to support a judgment in favor of appellees, and further that the only evidence presented at trial was that which established appellants satisfaction of the essentials of adverse possession. Appellees filed no brief in this court, especially informing the court that they did not intend to do so.
